

Stratton Seeks New Candidate For State Auditor

Businessman
With Financial
Background Sought

CHICAGO (AP)—Republicans today sought a businessman with some financial background as their new candidate for state auditor.

Gov. William G. Stratton said he had not yet begun to canvass the field of possible candidates to replace Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

But he said he will want "someone of the highest character and someone who has some fiscal background."

There were these other Chicago developments as a result of the investigations of "questionable" checks issued by Hodge's office:

1. It was disclosed that the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., where some of the checks were cashed, has been under investigation by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for six weeks.

2. Policeman William D. Lydon, owner of a Chicago interior decorating firm to which $108,000 worth of state checks were made out, was reported en route here to face questioning by his superiors.

3. U. S. Dist. Atty. Robert Ticken asked the FBI to enter the case to see if any federal laws were violated.

4. The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., which put up Hodge's present $50,000 bond, said it would conduct its customary inquiry if Hodge asks it to double his bond. Stratton said he wants $100,000 bond from Hodge, or he will declare the office vacant.

Merriam Is Possibility

Lydon, owner of Fabric-Crafts Sales Co., was reported to have spent the last 10 days in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., at an apartment hotel which is owned by Hodge.

Stratton discussed the coming search for a new candidate for auditor in a telephone interview Wednesday night with Karen Walsh, city editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, over Radio Station WMAQ.

The governor repeated that Hodge's "usefulness as a candidate is ended," and made it clear he will back another "independent" candidate if Hodge refuses to withdraw from the race for re-election.

He expressed interest in reports that former Chicago Ald. Robert E. Merriam, now assistant director of the budget in Washington, was a possibility, but said he had not contacted Merriam.

Stratton also said he had not approached Chicago clothier Morris B. Sachs, Democratic city treasurer here. Sachs said some Republicans had suggested to him that he might run for Hodge's office.

Hodge cannot be taken off the November ballot unless he agrees to withdraw. However, the Republican Party could sponsor an independent candidate against him.

Move Up Grand Jury Probe

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon today moved up a grand jury investigation of the office of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge to July 16. The grand jury investigation was scheduled to start July 23.

Hodge, meanwhile, faced an ultimatum from Gov. William G. Stratton to double his surety bond to $100,000 within 20 days or be thrown out of office.

Coutrakon said he has subpoenaed Edward Tintz, president of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, to appear before the grand jury July 16.

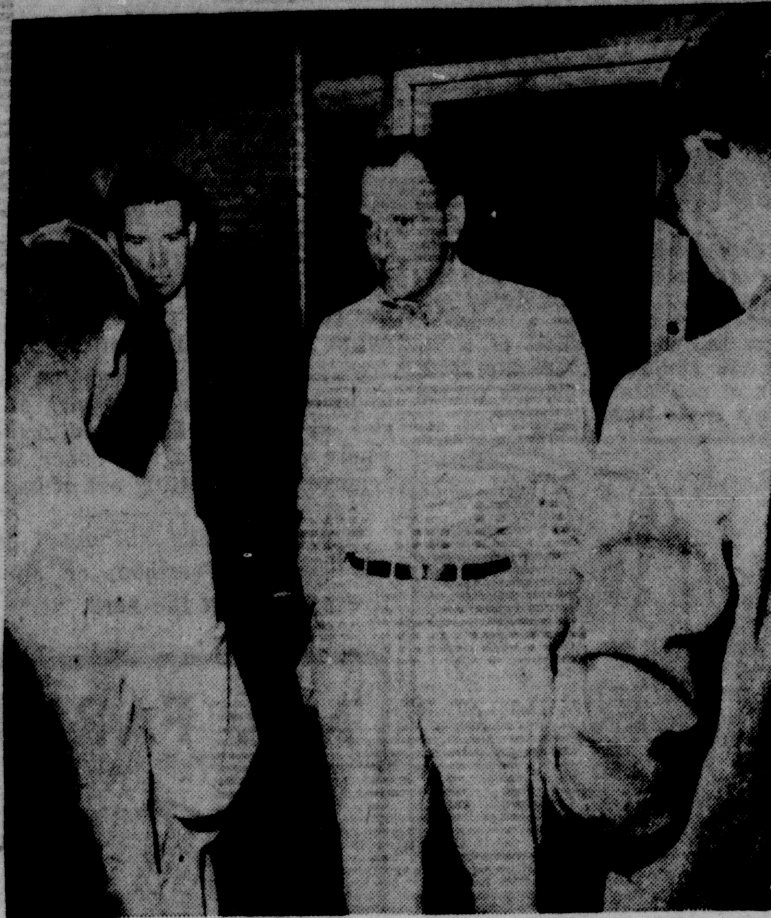

The subpoena served on Tintz at 10 p. m. Wednesday directed the bank officer to bring with him bank records of dealings with 36 persons and firms, including Hodge.

Others subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury July 16 include Lloyd Lane, an administrative assistant to Hodge; Thomas Shanahan, custodian of warehouses containing some of the auditor's records, and "several others" whom Coutrakon declined to identify.

Meanwhile Sangamon County Sheriff Arthur A. Gross reported today he has been unable to find State Auditor Orville E. Hodge to subpoena him for a grand jury appearance.

Blistering Attack on U. S. By Gromyko Draws Immediate Reply

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia today agreed to Western proposed manpower levels for disarmament, coupled with a nuclear weapons ban, and delivered to the United Nations a blistering attack on American foreign policy.

Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko drew an immediate reply from United States Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. in the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

Lodge told the Kremlin diplomat that his hour-long speech was a "scurrilous attack on my country in the very worst traditions of Stalinism."

He accused the Russian of misquoting Assistant Secretary of State Francis O. Wilcox that the U. S. was not interested in disarmament.

Wilcox actually said recently in a Chicago speech that the word "disarmament" was misleading and the United States favored regulated reductions of disarmament.

He said Gromyko had misquoted further by alleging that Lodge had said control and inspection of disarmament programs was impossible. Actually, Lodge said, he had quoted "a most cogent" Soviet statement to that effect.

Gromyko charged that the U. S. Air Force was one of the great purchasing agencies of the world, exceeding the combined expenditures of five of the largest American industrial concerns, and implied that a cutback in air strength would disturb the U. S. economy.

Lodge replied that "one of the astounding facts in the United States at present, which makes the United States the despair of the Communist theorists, is that the war in Korea came to a close and war orders occasioned by that war came to a close and American industry reverted to peacetime production with greater prosperity than ever before."

"The idea that we can maintain prosperity in America only by having a war is a figment of the imagination... it is crude and childish," Lodge said.

Gromyko attacked American foreign policy in Europe, the Near East, Asia and the Far East. He said the United States wants to keep these areas stirred up to justify its alleged opposition to disarmament.

Lodge said these charges were "absolutely unfounded... this is a sad morning. We ought to be working constructively."

The West has insisted that political settlements, notably of the German question, must accompany or precede any large-scale disarmament.

Gromyko told the 12-nation commission that the Kremlin is ready to accept the Western-proposed manpower levels of 2,500,000 men for the United States, Russia and China, 750,000 for Britain and France and not more than 200,000 for other countries.

Reduction to these levels, Gromyko said, should be a first step to be followed by eventual reduction to 1,500,000 men for the United States, Russia and China, and 650,000 for Britain and France.

Hold Private Funeral Services for 29 Unidentified Victims of Air Crash

GRAND CANYON VILLAGE, Ariz. (AP)—Private funeral services were scheduled today for 29 unidentified victims of the United Air Lines DC7 which collided with a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation June 30 and crashed into Grand Canyon.

A UAL spokesman said the unidentified remains would be buried in the U. S. Forest Service Cemetery in Grand Canyon. He said Catholic, Jewish and Protestant clergymen would officiate, but none of the victims' families would attend.

The public and press also were excluded. The airline announced memorial services for all of the 58 victims aboard the DC7 were scheduled at a later date and relatives will be flown here to attend those rites.

Only 29 of the victims could be identified while efforts to establish positive identity of the remaining half failed. Those identified were sent to their home towns for burial.

All but 3 of the 70 persons who plunged to their death aboard the TWA plane were buried Monday in the "Grand Canyon Memorial" plot of the Flagstaff, Ariz., cemetery.

Senate Speeds Up In Effort To Adjourn

Leader Johnson
Wins Approval for Earlier Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today began working on an overtime basis in an effort to adjourn in plenty of time for the national political conventions.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) won Senate approval Wednesday of an agreement to meet daily at 10:30 a. m. EDT, 1½ hours earlier than usual. Committees were given permission to sit only until noon.

The speedup was the latest move in the drive of congressional leaders to wind up the session before Aug. 1.

Johnson has no specific target date. But GOP leaders told President Eisenhower at Gettysburg Tuesday they were shooting for July 21.

The Democratic national convention opens in Chicago Aug. 13. The GOP national convention opens in San Francisco Aug. 20.

Johnson listed several assorted bills for Senate action this week, including the controversial proposal for the government to build atomic power reactors for peacetime use.

Urges School Aid Bill

He said the Senate will take up the foreign aid money bill next week. He said it probably also will tackle the long-delayed social security bill then.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) urged the Senate to "make another effort" to pass a federal school aid bill this session. Smith said he did not believe House defeat of such a program posed any "insurmountable" problem.

The National Executive Committee of Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal anti-Communist political group, urged that Congress be kept in session until mid-August, if necessary, to pass what it called essential legislation.

The group sent letters to Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn stating that the lawmakers should be held in Washington until they act on 11 specific bills. The ADA said these include foreign aid, trade cooperation, customs simplification, civil rights, school aid, housing, aid to depressed areas, social security liberalization, immigration, Hells Canyon and Niagara power.

Naas was driving the loaded hay truck on the gravel road between Ridgway and Eldorado, en route to the family home four miles west of Ridgway.

800 Spell Out Eldorado Unites for Aerial Movie by Life Photographers

Approximately 800 persons gathered on the Eldorado high school football field Wednesday afternoon for aerial photographs to close out a day of movie making in our neighboring city.

Yesterday morning a seven-man movie crew from Life Magazine started filming scenes of life in Eldorado, centered around the town's community development program.

As a climax to the day's activities, pictures were made of hundreds of Eldorado citizens spelling out the words "Eldorado Unites." To spell out the fourteen letters in sufficient size to be photographed from the air hundreds of people were needed. The human letters covered almost 100 yards, from goal line to goal line on the high school gridiron.

Pictures were made by a Life cameraman from a low flying airplane, while other pictures were being made by local area photographers from vantage points such as the second story of the high school building, top of the football score board and others.

Other Pictures Today

Picture taking was to continue in Eldorado today. The schedule showed that the first picture was to be made at 8:30 a. m. and the full schedule continued to 5:30 p. m.

A Chamber of Commerce meeting was the opening activity to be filmed today. The C. of C. office was remodeled and renovated by donated labor, it is reported, and this picture is to depict the close cooperation of business and labor.

Next was to be a picture of the Art Center, a community project in which business, labor, teen agers and adults, cooperated. The Art Center, equipped for the making of ceramics, is strictly a recreational program at present, but plans call to expand and put the

Says President Will Be Present At Convention

GOP Chairman Reports
Nixon Will Be On Republican Ticket

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower will go to San Francisco in August to accept the Republican nomination as head of an "Eisenhower and Nixon" ticket, GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall announced today.

Hall said after a one-hour conference with Mr. Eisenhower that Vice President Richard M. Nixon "absolutely" would have the No. 2 spot on the 1956 GOP ticket.

Hall said Mr. Eisenhower will be present at the GOP national convention after he is nominated, probably on Wednesday, Aug. 22.

He also announced that Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) will make the speech nominating Mr. Eisenhower for a second term.

Hall said Mr. Eisenhower will take part in a "vigorous, hard-hitting campaign."

Asked to predict the outcome of the election, Hall said it would be "very very good and better than in 1952."

Ike Wants Nixon

Hall was asked whether the President made clear that he still wants Nixon as his running mate. "Absolutely," Hall replied.

"I think it's Eisenhower and Nixon—That's it!"

He also predicted that the Republicans will recapture control of Congress.

Hall said Mr. Eisenhower himself will not engage in a whistle stop campaign, but will rely mainly on modern media, such as radio and television. He indicated that Nixon, however, would do the whistle stopping along with key members of the Cabinet, Senate and House.

As for the President's health, Hall said "nothing has been kept from the American people."

The health issue, he said, had been met "by candor and frankness" on the part of the President, and White House aides who have kept the people in touch through the press with the "daily condition of the President's health."

Radio-TV Campaign

As for the Democrats making health an issue, Hall said he had seen that some "gentlemen of the opposition party" themselves disagree with Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and others that health can be an issue.

"You can't beat candor," Hall said.

Hall said he saw no reason why Mr. Eisenhower should reaffirm his Feb. 29 decision to run for a second term.

"To my mind he made the announcement then, and that was it," Hall added.

There had been some question about Mr. Eisenhower's second term intentions after his June 9 operation to correct an intestinal obstruction.

But the President gave the word Tuesday, through Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, that he is still in the race.

Hall said that after the Republicans close their campaign people will be talking about it as the "greatest campaign" in history. He said it will be "vigorous and hard hitting," but he would not give details.

Hall said, however, that the President probably will make five or six major television addresses. He said the President also will go to various areas "perhaps by plane—it may be anywhere."

"When President Eisenhower talks over radio and television he will be talking to the biggest audience of any man in the history of the country," Hall said, citing the increase in the number of television sets as a major basis for his prediction.

Hail to the Highways

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The American people have two great reasons to rejoice about the 33-billion-dollar highway bill.

1. We will have the makings of a real highway network adequate to our national needs for the first time since we moved onto our high but incredibly crowded plane of postwar living.

2. We will be embarking upon one of the most ambitious public construction programs in U. S. history.

The core of this huge project is the building of a 41,000-mile web of interstate superhighways. Over the next 13 years the federal government will allocate 25 billion dollars among the states to pay 80 per cent of the cost of this work.

In addition, billions more will be spent by both the United States and the 48 states in a stepped-up "regular" highway program, that is, the building and maintenance of primary and secondary roadways which criss-cross the map and carry the heavy flow of traffic to every corner.

Together these expanded programs will inject new vigor into the national economy. Some states are already advanced in their planning for this work, and its impact on business levels could be felt soon.

With the economy in a somewhat uncertain state although on a generally high plateau, the highway program "shot in the arm" could be an important stabilizing factor. Indeed, it bids fair to outdo any public works project conceived in even the worst of times.

On top of this obvious booster effect, the program will be of major benefit to business in this way: By providing a vast net of roads between the chief centers of the country, it will encourage the faster, smoother flow of trucks and buses and private vehicles in profit-making travel.

It is as if a person of large body had been struggling along for years with a blood vessel system too small to sustain him properly, and then suddenly found himself equipped with arteries big enough to do the job. That's what a great super-highway system can do for America.

Of course fine roadways are not just an economic (and defense) asset. They are invitations to pleasure, to the fun of getting out and seeing the richly varied American landscape.

Americans are the most active travelers in the world, but a lot of their "motion" in recent years has had the speed of molasses in winter. They will welcome a great step forward that promises them perhaps the most painless gadding about the country they have enjoyed since the "quiet" days before World War II.

Turnpikes Paved the Way

As the nation's motorists begin paying an extra penny of federal tax on their gasoline to help foot the bill for the vast new highway program, it should not be forgotten what a remarkable contribution the turnpikes have made to modern motor travel in America.

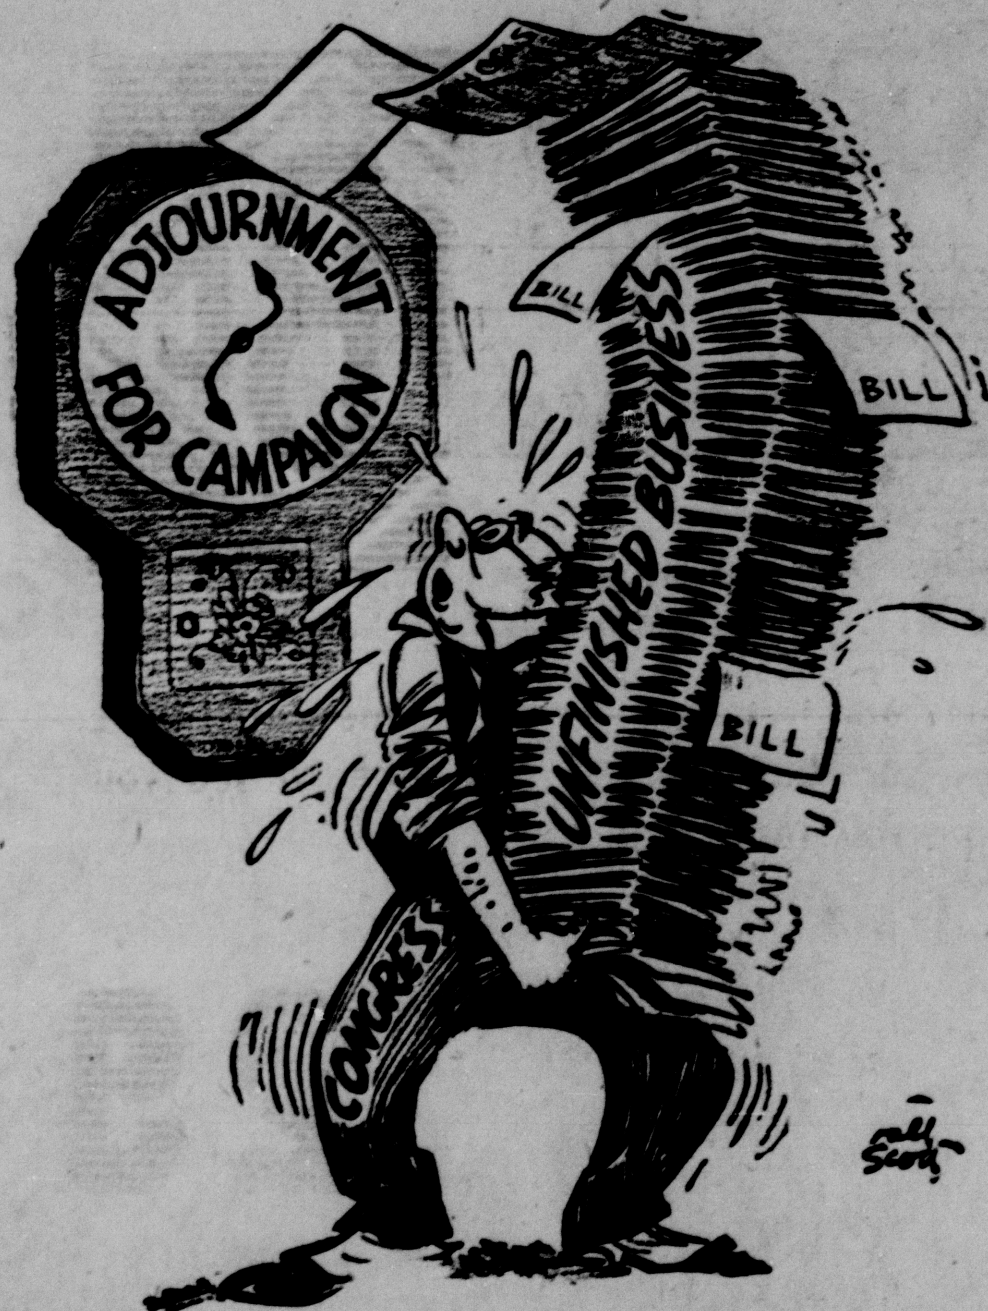

On Aug. 15 at least 95 miles of the 158-mile Indiana turnpike will be opened to the public. Thereby, all but about 60 miles of a fabulous New York to Chicago turnpike network will have been put into operation.

This fantastic system, free of stoplights, intersections, side roads and all the other usual highway encumbrances, must of course be paid for by tolls forked up out of the motorist's pocket.

But until now they have constituted an almost necessary expense, for these roads have been virtually the only truly modern highways in the nation. With their great sweep their great engineering advances, they show bold use of the imagination in tackling one of our toughest problems.

Indeed, by any fair measure they are the beacon for the new 41,000-mile national superhighway program just signed into law. They have shown the unimaginative and the plodding exactly what a highway network ought to be like in an age when 60 million vehicles cram the traffic arteries.

Illinois Republicans to Speed Up Campaign After Convention

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Illinois Republicans will speed up their state campaign shortly after leaders return to Illinois from the GOP National convention at San Francisco. The convention meets August 20 and could be over in four days if the nominated ticket is composed of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Aides to Gov. William G. Stratton and U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen are working out the campaign details and plan to have things ready for a swift intensive campaign which will include two caravans and take candidates in to every county as well as leave openings for a possible speech in Illinois by President Eisenhower and for appearances by Nixon and other national bigwigs.

One caravan, it is said, will be headed by Governor Stratton and include Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline; State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, Granite City; and Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, Sandwich. The other will be headed by Senator Dirksen, Pekin, and will include Supreme Court Clerk Mrs. Benjamin Searcy, Lieut. Gov. John W. Chapman and Elmer J. Hoffman, running for state treasurer.

To Use Mobile Unit

The starting points are among the details being worked out but first appearance are being scheduled about the tenth of September. Stratton's party will utilize the office of a mobile unit by State Treasurer Warren Wright, Park Ridge. The mobile unit was used by Wright in his unsuccessful campaign for Republican governor and was a post-primary peace offering by the treasurer.

The aides who are working out the details of the campaign are William W. Downey, Springfield, administrative assistant to Stratton and Harold Rainville, Chicago, Dirksen's assistant. The two caravans, it is said, will spend five weeks in downstate and three in Chicago. Daily events will include campaign luncheons, afternoon teas and nightly meetings. Democrats who have been campaigning steadily will take a "breather" the week of August 13, for the party's national convention at Chicago. Most active and principally in downstate of late have been State Rep. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, running for U. S. senator; Herbert C. Paschen, Chicago, candidate for Governor; and Roscoe Bonjean, Springfield, seeking the lieutenant governorship.

The big reception office which Illinois governors have used for as long as one can remember is being converted into a large private office for Governor Stratton. It will have everything, including air conditioning and a shower. Neither of the latter are original. The state treasurer's office has had a shower for years, and air conditioning is used by all elective state officers.

The conversion has become a "must" because of the large delegations which call on the Governor at his second floor Capitol office several times a week. It works an inconvenience on the visitors as well as the Governor, to crowd them into the present private office of the state's chief executive which can hardly handle more than half a dozen at a time without being pinched.

Portraits of former governors which is complete through former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, have been taken down from the walls to be stacked away for the present. Later as the rehabilitation of the statehouse is completed they will be hung in a special room. The current offices of the nearby State Budgetary Commission will be made over into a new reception room for the Governor.

Merz to Replace Lane as Research Forester at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Robert W. Merz, forester in charge of the Athens, Ohio, U. S. Forest Research Center since its establishment in 1949, will be transferred to a similar position in the Carbondale Forest Research Center at Southern Illinois University, according to W. G. McGinnies, director of the Central States Forest Experiment Station which operates both centers.

Merz will replace Richard D. Lane who will become chief of the Division of Forest Management Research in the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station with headquarters at Upper Darby, Pa. Lane expects to leave Carbondale by mid-September after Merz's arrival. The Northeastern Station includes nine research centers covering 12 states.

A veteran of 20 years with the U. S. Forest Service, Merz worked on soil bank reclamation research in Ohio and Missouri and as a forest ranger in Minnesota before going to Athens.

McGinnies says his varied experience in forest research and administration well qualifies Merz for heading the Carbondale center, one of the largest forest research centers in the country. Merz is a native of Minneapolis and received his forestry education at the University of Minnesota.

Notable during Lane's tenure at Carbondale has been the great amount of cooperative research done in working with interested public and private organizations, McGinnies says. One such project is the recently completed Wood Products Pilot Plant at SIU where emphasis is on developing and testing commercial uses for native hardwood timber.

Museum Admits Skeleton Find a Man, Not Woman

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — The Illinois State Museum confessed to an error today: Its latest skeleton find is a man instead of a woman.

The Indian skeleton was unearthed near Modoc Rock shelter in southern Illinois near the oldest dated Indian campsite east of the Rocky Mountains.

When the skeleton was found it was said to be "possibly the oldest skeleton found in the United States."

But Dr. Thorne Deuel, Museum director, said "exhaustive tests and correlation must be employed before we say exactly how long the skeleton has been buried."

The skeleton was first classified as female, but further study has identified it as the skeleton of a "long-headed male individual," the museum said.

Probe Shooting of Olney Farmer by Unknown Assailant

OLNEY, Ill. — Richland County authorities are investigating the shooting of a young farmer Tuesday by an unknown assailant.

Carroll Burget, 31, Claremont, was shot in the back as he plowed a field six miles from Olney. Burget was taken to a St. Louis hospital where the bullet was removed and Burget was reported to be in good condition today.

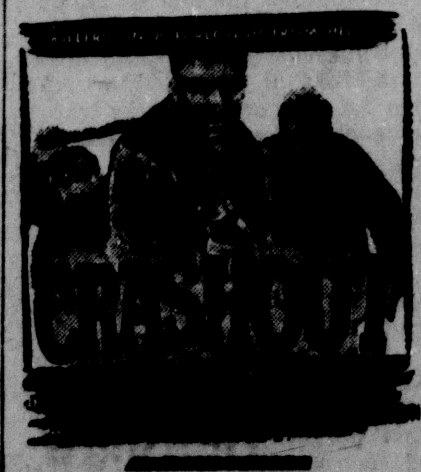

Burget was shot as he passed a barn and he tried to run down the assailant with his tractor but passed out. When he regained consciousness, Burget drove half a mile to his home and his father took him to Olney.

Sheriff George Chipley said Burget gave him the name of only one man as possibly being the assailant. However, the suspect had an alibi for his whereabouts at the time of the shooting.

Tips on Traffic Safety

With summer here and fine driving conditions expected, the motorist must double his vigilance for the driver who has decided to cut aside one of the basic rules of the road—the motorist who insists upon mixing his driving with his drinking.

A driver who has been drinking is always a menace to the highways. Thousands of fatal accidents are caused every year by a drunken person behind the wheel of a vehicle. In addition, there are thousands of non-fatal accidents caused by this same type of driver.

Summer weather induces more motorists to take to the road—for pleasure rides, short trips, and vacations. There are some drivers bent on summer relaxation who will allow themselves to over-indulge and then take to the highways. One can easily imagine the dangers these drivers present to other motorists as well as to themselves.

Time after time after time motorists have been warned of the fatal possibilities of mixing alcohol and gasoline. However, even higher court fines and imprisonment have not cleared our highways of those maniacs who are intent upon drinking and driving—upon killing and maiming.

Radio Station to Discontinue 'Rock and Roll' Records

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Radio Station WMIN, St. Paul, today announced it will discontinue "permanently" all programming of "rock and roll and rhythm and blues" records.

Station officials said this policy had been set up in view of "the recent outbreaks of violence in connection with this type of music."

WMIN spokesmen said their station is the first popular music station in the country to publicly state its opposition to this brand of music.

To this point, they said, "only disc jockeys in scattered points of the country have dared to take a public stand on the matter."

Police recently were called out to investigate the beginnings of a riot at the St. Paul Auditorium where a rock and roll dance was reported to be getting out of hand.

Wolves annually kill about 34,000 Canadian caribou, or about five per cent of the herd.

Methodist Bishop Reports Shortage Of Ministers

DES MOINES (AP)—A shortage of ministers is one of the most serious problems confronting the Methodist Church, a prominent Methodist bishop said here today.

Bishop Marshall R. Reed, of the Detroit area, told the North-Central Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church that an estimated 2,800 ministers are needed within the next four years.

"Paralleling the shortage of ministers," the bishop said, "is a shortage of money."

He pointed out that the Methodist Church "is founded in a group of the 10 lowest per capita givers for all purposes among the denominations, with an amount of $37."

Some 350 delegates from nine states heard Bishop Reed at the opening of today's business session. The North-Central Jurisdiction contains 2,171,324 Methodists, Reed said, which is more than 23 per cent of the total Methodist population in this country.

Coal, oil, and the limestone essential to steelmaking are all three of fossil origin, says the National Geographic Society. Coal is the accumulated, digested and compressed vegetable debris of swampy lands. Oil is decomposed plant and animal life from ancient sea basins. Limestone is an accumulation of the skeletons of marine invertebrates.

Italian Mother Of Seven Burns Herself to Death

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Police today closed their investigation into the death of a 48-year-old mother who burned herself at the stake in the hope of becoming a saint.

Police said Mrs. Angelide Borsan, mother of seven children, soaked herself with gasoline Tuesday, tied and gagged herself, and then set fire to a pile of straw on which she stood.

The authorities closed the books on the case today after clearing the woman's husband, Carlo, 52, of suspicion of murder.

They said Mrs. Borsan, afflicted with cancer, spent most of her time praying and reading the Bible and became convinced that her illness stemmed from her sins.

Switch Polls Suicide

UELZEN, Germany (AP)—Power company engineers threw a switch Tuesday to win a race with death. Company officials learned that 27-year-old Gerhard Trautvetter planned to take his life by throwing himself across high-tension wires. They cut off the current just as he neared the top of a 100-foot mast. It took two hours for police to coax the man off his perch, while the utility firm lost $3,500 worth of business because of its dead power lines.

Presiding Judge At Scopes 'Monkey Trial' Dies at 87

SOUTH PITTSBURG, Tenn. (AP) — John Tate Raulston, 87, the presiding judge of the famous John Scopes "monkey trial" in 1925, died Wednesday at his home here.

The John Scopes trial, held in Dayton, Tenn., was a test case of Tennessee's law prohibiting the teaching of evolution. The dramatic trial matched the country's two outstanding lawyers, William Jennings Bryan for the state and Clarence Darrow for the defense. The case is the subject of a successful Broadway play, "Inherit the Wind."

The verdict in the "monkey trial" upheld the law and the indictment of Scopes for his teaching.

Judge Raulston retired from his private law practice in 1950 after a nervous breakdown and a fractured hip, suffered in a fall.

Reveals Kidnap Note Signed Your Baby Sitter

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — The Nassau County chief of detectives revealed today that the ransom note for the kidnaped Weinberger baby was signed "Your baby sitter."

Stuyvesant Pinnell, the detective chief, said the note left in the infant Peter's carriage on July 4th was "well written" and "obviously prepared."

Pinnell said study of the note indicated that the kidnaper was someone who worked in the neighborhood and knew of the Weinberger baby.

"I think it's a real grown up person who wrote the note," Pinnell said.

Pinnell said, however, that the child's mother, Mrs. Betty Weinberger, had never had a baby sitter even for their other son, Lewis, 2½. But he said the family had hired maids who also cared for the children.

Study Writing on Note
"Frankly there's nothing encouraging," Pinnell answered when questioned about other aspects of the eight-day-old abduction.

Pinnell refused to guess whether the writer of the ransom note was a man or woman. He said the note, over 35 words in length, was examined by several handwriting experts who disagreed as to the age and sex of the writer.

The detective chief said the note contained instructions to drop $2,000 ransom money at Albermarle Road and Park Avenue, approximately a half-block from the Weinberger home. But he said the note omitted any instructions for recovering or picking up the baby.

Pinnell said he still has possession of the ransom note but expected the FBI to examine it today.

The G-men officially joined in the hunt for the baby and his kidnaper Wednesday with the announcement that the organization's "full resources" would be mobilized for the search.

Bonjean Charges Lack of Concern By Gov. Stratton

WHITE HALL, Ill. (AP)—Roscoe Bonjean, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said Wednesday Gov. William G. Stratton "cannot escape" responsibility for alleged irregularities in the office of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

Bonjean said Stratton's "belated order" for state police to guard records in the treasurer's and auditor's offices came more than a month after disclosure of "irregularities" and "smacks of political lethargy and lack of concern for the rights of the people of Illinois."

Detroit Teen-Agers Steal Shrine Fezzes

DETROIT (AP)—One teen-ager was under arrest today and five others were being sought by police for indulging in the "sort" of fezz snatching.

Police said they caught Edward Andries, 19, running down the street Wednesday night with a fezz belonging to Shriner Theodore Kaiser, Murat Temple, Indianapolis, under his arm. Kaiser, here to attend the Shrine's 82nd annual convention, told officers the youth stole up behind him and snatched the bright red fezz before he could stop him.

Andries, being held for investigation of larceny from a person, was said by police to be a member of a six-member gang which specializes in stealing fezzes from luckless Shriners.

Marion Girl is Elected President At Girl's Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delegates to the Girls Nation split their ticket Wednesday night to elect a Federalist president, Ann Morgan, 17, Marion, Ill., and a Nationalist vice president, Mary Charlotte Decker, 17, Jacksonville, Tex.

The election climaxed two days of vigorous nominating and campaigning by the 98 high school juniors who are participating in the 10th annual citizenship training course sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

With politicking over, the delegates merged their rival factions for a visit to the White House today.

Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States, arranged to receive the entire delegation and their leaders in the White House garden this morning.

The group had a date to see Secretary of State John Foster Dulles this afternoon at the State Department.

Last-Minute Rescue

TORQUAY, England (AP) — A fishing trawler rescued 38 vacationers Wednesday from a motor launch which sank after hitting a reef. The vacationers were aboard the 36-foot launch Neptune, returning from a sightseeing trip on the river Dart. The skipper of the trawler "Commander" saw the launch strike the reef. He swung his craft alongside and took the passengers aboard as the launch disappeared under water.

Nixon Still After No. Two Spot On GOP Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon has made it clear he still wants to be the No. 2 man on the GOP ticket this year.

Nixon said Wednesday on his return from a round-the-world trip that he is ready to join forces with President Eisenhower in the 1956 election campaign.

The vice president noted that he told Mr. Eisenhower last April that he would be happy to be his running mate again this year.

"Since the President has indicated that he will stand for re-nomination the announcement I made has not changed," he told a high-ranking welcoming group at National Airport.

Nixon was welcomed by a delegation of foreign diplomats and Republican leaders, including Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Earlier at a news conference, Dulles had upheld the views Nixon expressed in a speech attacking neutralism.

Nixon's return from the 11-day journey also was marked by a new round of Democratic criticism aimed at him. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) charged that he had needlessly antagonized Prime Minister Nehru of India with the neutralism speech.

Harvard Economist Sees Abundant Future

Didn't Quote Odds

CHICAGO (AP) — The 21-year-old son of a wealthy Chicago area manufacturer was killed early today when he was thrown from his car on Edens Expressway.

James D. Cunningham Jr. was on his way home from a downtown Chicago club when his car apparently struck a pipe in the road. He was thrown from his sports car which continued some 200 feet and burst into flames.

A passing motorist discovered accident about 2:30 a. m. CST and put out the flames. There were no witnesses.

Cunningham was the son of James Dalton Cunningham, Winnetka, Ill., president of Republic Flow Meters, a firm that manufactures industrial instruments.

The younger Cunningham lived in Northfield with his wife Cynthia.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.

Written for NEA Service
SERVICE in America is rendered by everyone. We have come to realize that our successes and satisfactions in living are determined by the service which we give to other people. Public officials are known as public servants. Waiters and bellboys and stockholders are proud to serve their fellow men.

All of us recognize a certain responsibility to others. We do not frown on those who add to the comforts of other people. In fact, we are inclined to be critical of any who do not strive to benefit their neighbors. We think of such folk as selfish, unscrupulous and unAmerican.

There is one serious problem, however, in this area of service which deserves consideration. We are inclined to serve as a matter of habit, rather than because of high ideals. Some have learned to serve because it pays to give service. Some do for and unto others because they wish to be on the bandwagon of the majority.

It is time we appraised our actions and the relationship of our living to our ideals. Jesus washed the feet of the Disciples with no thought of reward. He did it as an example of service. He lived His whole life for other people. He broke down the barrier which existed between authority and servitude. He established brotherhood and love as basic tenets for His way of life.

He who will become great must first become a servant of others, and that service must be based on brotherly love. We must consciously apply our spiritual ideals to our daily living.

Poor Posture No. 1 Cause of Aching Backs

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Humanity likely will have aching backs until push buttons produce jellified spines.

That may take a million years, and even then man's worries will not be over. His care then may be finger bunions caused by pushing buttons.

Seriously, the hurting up and down the spine mostly is man's own fault.

The Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., which polled orthopedic doctors on the subject, says these fellows report that half their patients hurt somewhere along the spine. By far, the medics say, the No. 1 cause is posture. Too many people are sitting, sleeping, working, lifting, and driving the wrong way.

As one doctor put it: "The posture habits of most Americans is pretty awful."

This expert on what ails our rear column thinks it would be fine if we would start with the young. If taught the correct posture early, he said, "it would save a lot of misery in later life." Most back troubles occur in people over 40, he said.

Here, from the doctors who know their spines, are some suggestions for standing up straight.

Governor Proclaims July 14 'Ground Observer' Day in State

Governor William G. Stratton has officially proclaimed July 14 as "Ground Observer Corps Day" in Illinois.

General Robert M. Woodward, State Director of Civil Defense, said: "The Ground Observer Corps is an important and integral part of Illinois' Civil Defense." He asserted the Governor's proclamation "recognized the important services of over 17,000 volunteers in Air Defense Filter Centers and Observation Posts throughout Illinois on their fourth anniversary of this vital work in Operation Skywatch."

sitting down correctly and the like to make for more comfortable living:

When you stand, lift the chest and pull the belly in—it reduces that vulnerable swayback.

Sit the same way, with the lower back against the back of the chair. Perching on a foot can cause a lot of misery.

Don't sleep on your tummy. On your side, instead, with knees bent, or on your back, with a small pillow under the knees. Too soft or sagging beds are enemies of the backbone; a firm mattress is recommended, laid on a board or a solid box spring.

When you lift, let the knees do most of the work. Keep the back as upright as possible.

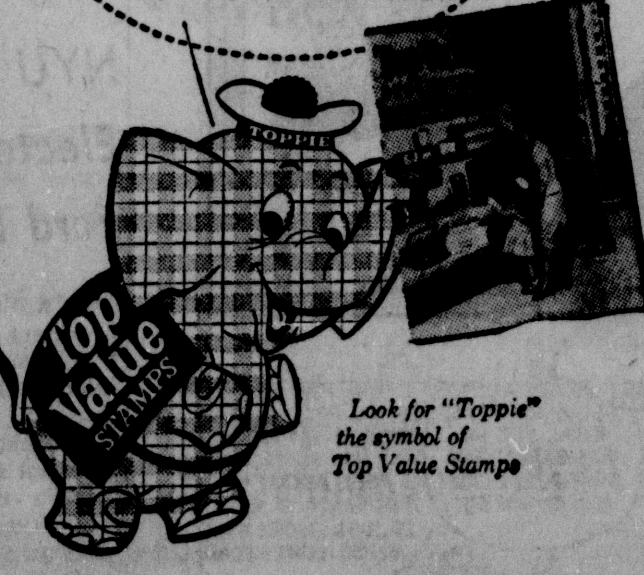

Check your automobile seat. If it tends to "jackknife" you, it doesn't do your back any good.

XXXI

For hours they skirted the low pine hills making a wide sweep around Norring's quarters and around Cashtown. In this way Jean hoped to strike the Skull about 10 miles north of town. Through this country of alternate pasture and scrub pine she pointed the herd with Alex Jacobs and Frank at her stirrups. It was upon the boy she now pinned her faith.

This was the country into which the kid had been bred, into which he had run footloose during the summers between school seasons. With his young mind he had pictured himself as Kit Carson first and then Fremont and Bill Williams and Lucian Maxwell and that long roster of fabled pioneer scouts and buffalo hunters. She remembered the beginning, how Alex's father had come to their door when the boy had been only about 10. He'd asked Vogel to keep an eye on Alex, and her father, with typical generosity, had accepted him on Rafter. Old man Jacobs had been a fur trapper in smoke blackened buckskins and an animal skin cap. Each season he wandered from his cabin and stayed away longer. Then one spring he failed to return. Alex had been on Rafter C ever since.

Unexpectedly they rounded a sparsely grassed over knob and caught the glimmer of water a hundred feet below them. Across the river was the basin Frank had crossed in first coming to Cashtown. With almost no scouting Alex seemed to locate a gentle slope from the bluff to the flat land beside the Skull.

She lifted her gaze questioning to Frank when he indicated he meant to remain on the bluff. He tossed his head backward and for the first time she saw the dust cone against the dark pine hills. This was not dust they had lifted. It quartered toward them from another angle, and it was made by horses coming at a fast run.

He pressed her hand as she rode beyond him, dropping from the bluff on the narrow grade leading to the river. The horses were filling down by twos and threes.

Frank waited until she reached the bottomland, returned her wave, then spurred over the back-trail. Soon he overtook La Tour and Hyman riding flank on the herd. Lopez brought up the drag, his neckerchief drawn over his mouth as protection against the dust. Behind Lopez he met the wagon in which rode Tod Drury and Ricketty. Presently Swenson burst into sight rounding the knob. The Swede pulled in beside Frank. "You see them coming?" Emmett Cash!

Frank nodded. He had long made up his mind the first pursuit would be Emmett Norring would be occupied in town.

Emmett's remarks came back to him of Jean's skill in hiding horse tracks. He had said she could take a string through any box without leaving sign. It was in the back of Frank's mind that Jean was playing with the idea of cutting through the Skull badlands. But even if she did her brother would outguess them. There was a roasting heat in the malpais and Emmett would never attack in this inferno. But if Jean's brother allowed them to cross the wasteland, Frank feared his crew would be waiting on the malpais's far edge ready to strike when their animals were exhausted.

Swenson touched a pair of Army glasses with his thumb. "Six men coming up. One of them out in front pretty far. I guess he figures on scouting our outfit."

The advance rider must not be allowed to report his information to Emmett. Frank said, "Let me have your glasses."

The blacksmith unhooked them from about his neck. "Want me to give you a hand?"

"No, Swede, just make sure nobody gets through to Jean."

Frank checked the load in his saddle gun. A quarter mile behind his meeting place with Swenson he found a deep draw into which he led the chestnut. He tied the reins securely to an ancient cedar so the horse couldn't bolt. Then he dug his heels into the shale slope and labored to a high point above the horse.

The oncoming rider was much closer now. With his glass Frank was able to identify him as Marigny, one of the Texans that rode with Emmett.

Five minutes later Marigny rode within rifle shot. He wore a saddle bandage about his head, a grim reminder of last night's attempt to hold the herd for Emmett.

He lifted the sights a yard above Marigny's head. When he slammed his shot he saw the Texan spur his corral to one side.

Marigny's blurred yell brought him only one clearly focused word: "Traitor." He had drawn his carbine by now and as he bailed down into the draw he let fly a searching shot amid the dust. The ball struck wide and Frank smiled. From behind an outcrop the Texan began throwing lead in a steady barrage. A bullet struck the ledge below Frank shattering the rock. One of the chips pierced Frank's cheek below his eye. He realized then how close Marigny was shooting.

A long time later he saw Marigny top out from the draw and swing his horse in the direction from which he'd first appeared. He hadn't killed his former saddle companion, but he was sure he'd knicked his flesh somewhere. (To Be Continued)

Eisenhower's Traveling Cabinet Logs 67 Trips Around the World

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Members of Ike's cabinet have traveled more than any cabinet in history.

Since the President took office Jan. 20, 1953, the heads of his departments have hustled the hustings, beat the boondocks and inspected and wooed the world to log a total of 1,004,100 miles as of July 1.

That's roughly the equivalent of 67 trips around the world or 670 trips from New York to Los Angeles.

Only approximate figures are available on the travels of previous members of presidential cabinets. But they don't come close to the globe trottings of Ike's top level aides.

The significance of all this traveling, spokesmen for cabinet members claim, is that administration officials are carrying out Ike's orders to get around and see problems first-hand, and talk to the people.

"The miracle of air travel is really what makes all this possible," says a White House spokesman. "It's really a new dimension in democracy."

Practically every member of the cabinet has had to attend several conferences in other parts of the world, reflecting America's new role in international affairs.

Ike's vacations and his Denver illness accounted for 60,000 miles of this travel. Cabinet members traveled this distance to confer with him during the past three years while he was out of town.

As might be expected Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has logged the most distance, covering a total of 312,049 miles. About 20,000 miles of this has been in the U. S. with the rest abroad.

Most most aggressive traveler is Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. In talking to farmers and conferring with experts on the troublesome farm situation, he has gone 264,000 miles.

Taking third honors for getting around is the former Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay. While roving mostly over the western part of the U. S. he traveled 225,818 miles.

Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson and Attorney General Herbert Brownell are tied, having traveled 199,000 miles each.

The problems of getting the new Department of Health, Education and Welfare going have kept its two bosses chained to their offices. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby traveled only 19,551 miles before quitting and her successor, Marion Folsom, has only traveled 7,022 miles.

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey has traveled 105,000 miles while Sinclair Weeks, boss of the Department of Commerce, has gone 125,000 miles in running his office.

He has been a relatively conservative gad-about, compared to his sides, accounting for 110,350 miles.

Although highly regarded as a traveler, Vice President Richard Nixon only could claim to have traveled 175,000 miles, about half abroad and half around the U. S., before his most recent trip around the world.

It's impossible to estimate with any reasonable degree of accuracy what this cabinet travel bill has cost the U. S. taxpayer.

It has been claimed that it costs $100 per mile when the President travels in his plane. On the other hand Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, and other Post Office officials, have a special card which gives them free travel aboard any U. S. carriers. He has traveled 175,000 miles with this card.

When Mrs. Hobby traveled she used the plane of a Texas friend and it didn't cost the U. S. Treasury a cent.

Some cabinet officials fly regular commercial planes. Some, like Dulles and Wilson, fly military aircraft, and the exact cost of that travel is difficult to determine.

Pilot Dies in Plane, Passenger Lands Safely On First Try at Flying

YANKTON, S. D. (AP) — George Burnell, Beresford, S. D., who never had piloted a plane before, took the controls of a light plane Tuesday when the pilot fell dead and landed safely at a Yankton airport.

The pilot, Harold Davidson, 47, Vermillion, was pronounced dead on arrival at a Yankton Hospital.

Davidson and Burnell were patrolling power lines in the Tripp area when Davidson slumped over the controls. Burnell, unable to feel any pulse, took over and headed for the nearest airport. He brought the plane down at Yankton in what was described as a "smooth landing."

A pheasant-like bird in Australia builds a nest as big as a man's house, says the National Geographic Society. Using leaves, sticks and debris, Megapodius reinwardt constructs a home sometimes as much as 15 feet high and 50 feet in circumference. It lays its eggs deep in the pile where they are incubated by the heat of fermenting vegetation.

WHICH ARE TOP SEVEN NATURAL WONDERS?—In this bumper year for visitors to the nation's national parks, surest way to start a hassle is to arbitrarily list the seven top natural wonders of our country. You take your vacation and make your own selection from among the sights, several of which are illustrated in sketch, above. No one—but no one—will go out on a limb and be identified with an opinion concerning anything so personal as appreciation of color, grandeur, majesty or sheer beauty. Travel agencies, park officials, tour agencies—all remain mum. Selection, following, is a consensus of several authorities who are vigorously anonymous: Grand Canyon, Yosemite, Yellowstone, Crater Lake, Carlsbad Caverns, Mount Rainier, Rainbow Bridge.

National League Teams Grouped for Pennant Fight; Dodgers Stretch Favorites

By United Press
The National League's cup of joy still was overflowing today. Last year after the All-Star game, the happiness over a National League victory was tempered over the fact that there was no pennant race left.

But today, as teams resume full scale action in both leagues, the last place New York Giants are just 12 1/2 games behind the top-dog Cincinnati Redlegs in the National. After the All-Star break in 1955, Brooklyn was a dozen games in front of second place Milwaukee and the rest of the teams straggled out behind that to a 30-game deficit for last place Pittsburgh.

Thus, the last place Giants today are almost as close to the top as were the second place Braves of a year ago.

Dodgers Still Favored

Today, the Braves still are in second place, but that's a situation which could change almost overnight, because they are only 1 1/2 games behind. Moreover, the Dodgers, two games behind in third place, have shown signs they may be ready to push out all the pretenders to their world championship throne.

The odds-makers are convinced the Dodgers will do it, too, for they installed them as the favorites for the stretch run at 8-5 against a price of 2 1/2 to 1 for both the Redlegs and Braves. The fourth place Cardinals now are so slightly regarded they are 20-1 while the second division teams, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, were lumped at 25-1.

In the American League, unless injuries to Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra cut down the power of the Yankee Bombers, it looks like another runaway. The Yankees were 6 1/2 games in front of both the second place White Sox and third place Indians. And they're home for a long stand, opening a three-game set with the Indians today.

The price on the Yankees right now is a prohibitive 5-7 and the Indians and White Sox are at 8-1.

Dodgers' Jackson Sideline

Brooklyn, opening up its third western road trip of the year with a day-night doubleheader at Milwaukee, learned it would have to do without its hard-hitting third baseman, Randy Jackson, for at least a week. Jackson suffered such a severely lacerated left thumb from a broken shower handle in his home in Brooklyn, it required three stitches and they can't be removed for several days.

Manager Walter Alston, dismayed because Jackson has been performing well lately, said he would move Jackie Robinson from second to third and put Junior Gilliam at second.

Cincinnati will try to hold on to its lead against the Phillies tonight while the Giants are at St. Louis and Pittsburgh is at Chicago in an afternoon doubleheader in the National.

In addition to the Cleveland at New York afternoon game in the American, Chicago is at Boston, Kansas City at Baltimore, and Detroit at Washington.

There was one make-up game on the schedule Wednesday night, the Giants at Milwaukee, and it was rained out like its predecessor.

PAT FLAHERTY, Indianapolis winner, will set a terrific pace for his rival speed pilots on Du Quoin State Fair's one-mile dirt track in the U.S.A.C. auto racing events scheduled for the three afternoons of Labor Day Week end.

Ken Boyer IN THE Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Ken Boyer is a year behind schedule, but the man from Missouri is really showing them today.

As a rookie third baseman with the Cardinals a year ago, Boyer was touted as the probable rookie of the year. He tapered off at the plate, however, and the honors went to his teammate, Bill Virdon. But if anybody is handing out "sophomore of the year" awards they'd better take a long look at the large young man from Berkeley, Mo.

For even the rival American League can tell you, in the wake of the All-Star game, that it couldn't have been idle chatter when they tabbed Boyer as "another Pie Traynor." All he did in the annual inter-league scuffle was get three hits in five trips, turn in a trio of fielding gems, score once and drive in the winning run.

Among League's Leaders

None of which surprised the National Leaguers in attendance. Because as the pennant races go into the second half, Boyer is second in the National League in hitting, with a fat .321 mark; leads the league in runs batted in, with 40, and is third among the home run hitters with 20.

Nor it might be added, does it surprise the Cardinals. They were so certain of Boyer's qualities when he came up last season that before spring training they traded away hard-hitting but frenzied fielding Ray Jablonski.

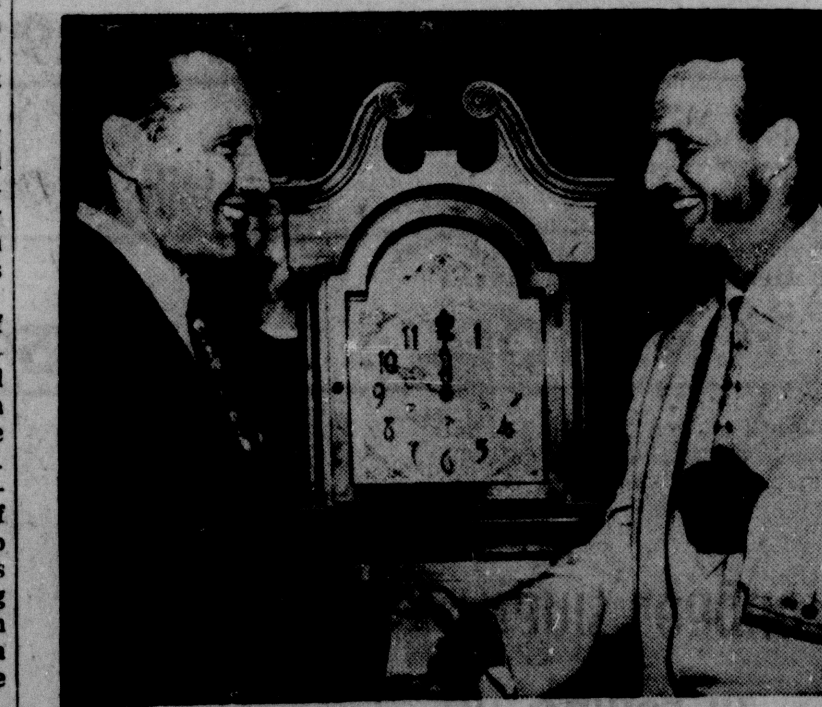

The Cards actually were surprised that Boyer, a brilliant fielder, hit only .264 in his freshman year. For, as in the cases of such as Babe Ruth and Stan Musial, the 25-year old Boyer started out as a pitcher and simply hit too well to be kept idle in the bullpen three or four days at a time.

From Baseball Family

The pleasant, taciturn Missourian was a pitcher when he entered organized baseball with Lebanon in 1943. There he hit .455. The next season at Hamilton, he was hitting .342 when they took him off the hill and started working him at third base and in the outfield.

At Omaha, in 1951, he was stationed permanently in the hot corner but then went into the Army for two years. Ken had counted on getting up with the Cardinals in 1953, for his brother, Cloyd, was pitching for the Redbirds. But when he returned from service in 1954, and was assigned to Houston, the sore-armed Cloyd already had been traded away.

The son of a marble cutter, Ken is one of seven boys. Cloyd is with Sacramento now and 19-year old Cletus is a Kansas City bonus baby. But Ken is giving them all something at which to shoot.

STAN "THE MAN" HONORED—Stan Musial, right, veteran St. Louis Cardinal slugger named "player of the decade" by Sporting News, is congratulated by Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians after being honored as such at a Touchdown Club in Washington, D.C. Musial was awarded the $400 clock by Sporting News, and given a lifetime membership to the Touchdown Club. (NEA Telephoto)

Walker's, Braves Win Games in Kiwanis League

By David Nelson

Walker's Cleaners swamped the Reds, 23-6, and the Braves downed Dairy Brand, 9-3, in Kiwanis league baseball games played Wednesday.

Hickey belted three home runs and two singles to lead a 15-hit barrage, including seven homers, as Walker's swamped the Reds, 23-6. Hodson, Walker's hurler, gave up only two base hits, both in the second when the Reds scored five of their six runs. The big inning for the winners also was the second when they tallied 10 times. Pavelonis, Cannon, Businaro and Hodson also hit homers for Walker's, while Morgan and McSparin had the Reds' only safeties. Hansen was the losing pitcher.

Hefner pitched a four-hitter and allowed only three runs as the Braves won their first game in Kiwanis play, beating the Dairy Brands, 9-3. Feazel and Howton hit back-to-back home runs in the fourth when the Braves scored four of their runs. Woolard, on the hill for the losers, gave up only five base hits but was wild, walking six and hitting one batter, and was touched for nine runs. Hicks, Shelton, Patton and Woolard had Dairy Brand's only hits and Henshaw, Syers and R. Henson also had hits for the winning Braves.

Teen-Age All-Stars Beat Carmi, 6-4

The Harrisburg Teen-Age All-Stars beat the Carmi Junior Legion baseball team, 6-4, in a game played Wednesday night at the local VFW park.

The Stars were held to three hits by Dean, Carmi pitcher, but capitalized on eight bases on balls, two hit batsmen and three errors to win. King, on the hill for the locals, gave up four runs on six safeties, five bases on balls and three errors, while striking out 10.

Winter led the losers at the plate with two hits in three tries and South, Bell, Dean and Sanders also picked up safe blows. Vick, King and Denny hit safely once each for the winners.

Dizzy Dean Picks Reds, Yankees For World Series

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Dizzy Dean predicts the Yankees and Redlegs in the World Series.

"Ain't gonna be much of a race in the American from here on," commented Diz, who said the Yankees will win the pennant in a walk.

"The tipoff was last week when the Detroit Tigers knocked off the Chicago White Sox three in a row." Dean, ex-Cardinal star, is in Memphis to play in the celebrities division of the Colonial Country Club Golf Tournament. He said Cleveland was out of the running because they are unable to win the big games.

Dean thinks Cincinnati will take the National League crown, but sees the Milwaukee Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers fighting the Redlegs right down to the finish.

Unbeaten Eddie Machen KO's Valdes in 8th

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Unbeaten Eddie Machen of San Francisco asked today for a fight with heavyweight challenger Floyd Patterson as a reward for Wednesday night's eight-round knockout over big Nino Valdes in their television bout at the auditorium here. "Let Patterson show his stuff against me before he tries to fight Archie Moore for the vacant title," declared the 23-year-old boxer who had registered his 15th straight victory and his 12th knockout before 2,913 fans.

"After all, Patterson became a challenger by outpointing Hurricane Jackson," 23-year old Machen continued. "Well, Valdes knocked out Jackson in the second round, and now I've beaten Valdes twice." Machen, 10th-ranking contender, outpointed big Valdes of Cuba at San Francisco on April 16, and knocked him out Wednesday night at 47 seconds of the eighth round with a finishing left hook to the chin. Nino's handlers required nearly two minutes to revive him. Thirty-one year old Valdes outweighed Eddie, 206 1/2 pounds to 192; but Nino was an 8-5 underdog as he suffered his third knockout and 13th defeat in 50 professional bouts. He was also knocked out by Joe Louis in an exhibition.

Wins Powder Puff Derby for Second Straight Year

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Michigan-born Mrs. Frances Bera is fast becoming the nation's foremost lady pilot but she still has one world to conquer.

The 31-year-old Los Angeles flying instructor, who has won the cross-country "Powder Puff Derby" for two straight years, wants to fly solo around the world.

"That's the one big goal I have left," Mrs. Bera said after being named the Powder Puff winner Wednesday for the second year in a row and the third time in the six years she has flown in the race.

One of her sisters, Mrs. Edna Bower of Long Beach, Calif., accompanied her as co-pilot on her last two winning cross-country jaunts.
